

Grey Literature

This section compiles outputs produced outside the traditional scholarly forms sectioned in this compendium. The sources are categorized as: a) conference papers, b) documents, and c) encyclopedia articles. The conference papers represent early stages of research, preliminary findings, or studies pending publication, while the documents are written to inform policy or decision-making, advocacy, and project implementation. The encyclopedia entries legitimize terms related to LGBTQIA+ within larger sociological studies.

These sources help expand the academic and advocacy for LGBTQIA+ by complementing published or formal scholarship with other forms. These outputs also inspire scholars and researchers to discover other forms of writing, knowledge production, and sharing.
